

NOTSL NEWS

Volume 6, Issue 1, Spring 2003

Message from Jeffrey Trimble, NOTSL Chair:

As technical service librarians our world is changing. Each day something new on the horizon arrives in our departments and we have the obligation to make it accessible to the patron. In so many ways we are providing user service, but "behind the scenes". We have to pose to librarians in our venue of calling "How can I or should I make what I do known to the public?" But more important, "How shall I keep my skills current with the newest technologies, standards, and processes?"

It is the second question that the Spring 2003 NOTSL meeting is addressing. As we can see there has been a paradigm shift in the cataloging of serials that AACR2 has addressed: Integrated Resources. But what does this mean? What does this encompass? What has changed? How do I do my job?

All these questions and more will be answered at our Spring 2003 program. Two exciting speakers will guide us through the changes in our cataloging techniques. Both Andrea Olson and Steve Miller are nationally known experts in the field. Andrea is a CONSER trainer and Steve a foremost consultant in this field.

Come and get your serial cataloging skills "C.I.R.C.'d".
